Editor's note

The 10th edition of OC OPEN CITY International Summer School was a great opportunity to reflect about topics and impacts of an initiative that is oriented to test innovative tools and methods to teach and to learn in the field of urban and architectural design.

Working in a research horizon and highlighting issues and matters strongly related with contemporary discussion, OC was for 10 years an International and interdisciplinary workshop.

In line with these topics, its last edition cannot be just a moment to look behind, remembering a small but challenging story, but it's an occasion to open different paths.

Looking forward the future and using the physical and virtual traces, it remains (in each single student, in all the teachers, in the School itself) a necessary anchor point.
